Headline:
Unsettled weather from mid-week with heavy rain and damaging winds.

Today:
A fine and dry start to the day for much of the region, any frost soon thawing. Cloud in the north spreading to all parts, with some outbreaks of rain, mainly in the north of the region. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Tonight:
Mostly cloudy with perhaps the odd clear spell in the east. Further periods of mainly light rain, especially over the hills. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Tuesday:
Mainly dry further east on Tuesday, with brighter spells. Turning breezy over western hills with rain and drizzle at times. Heavy rain overnight into Wednesday. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Turning very unsettled through the period with heavy blustery showers, wintry over the hills, or longer spells of rain. Strong to gale strength winds with severe gales possible over hills.
